4 PRE-PRIMARY DAYS REMAIN

The National League of Women Voters, through its department of efficiency in government says:

"Send the best men and women into office. The primary is your chance to name candidates for the fall election."

Religious conditions in and about Ferozepore, India, are described in a letter home from Clara Lloyd of this city. Clara Lloyd went to Ferozepore from this city about five years ago. She was sent by the Presbyterian Mission Board.

The letter, which is addressed to Mrs. Harriet Kramer at Smithtown and is dated May 29, describes the Indian caste system and the religious customs of the Mohammedans and tells something of the persecutions Indian children are subject to if they accept Christianity. It is as follows:

"I was indeed glad to get your letter and appreciated your taking the trouble to write for I know you must keep as busy as ever with your home, garden and so forth. It is encouraging, too, to know that one is being remembered by the home folks for although I would not want to be anywhere else in the world than India, yet it undoubtedly is a hard mission field.

"The awful caste system is a great hindrance to Christianity and yet, in spite of all the obstacles, we see wonderful evidences of the power of the Gospel where the higher classes and the poor are united. Satan is against whom we are fighting and our God is sufficient for all these things.

"These five years have been full of interesting and blessed experiences and I appreciate more and more the great privilege that is mine to give the Gospel message in this land.

"For many years missionary work was done almost altogether among the higher classes of people but there seemed to be not much fruit from this work and the attention was turned to the low class people, many of whom have become Christians and from whom most of our workers have come. Now the tendency seems to be to work among all classes more and I feel we are getting to the right place for one class is just as needy as the other.

"I think many of you folks at home think of India as heathenish but India is really more religious than our own land. Here where ever one turns one finds people who are thinking of God or what they think is God.

"The Hindu woman never begins to bake her break without invoking the blessing of the Lord upon her work—birth, marriage, death, are all surrounded by hundreds of religious ceremonies, so in one way it is very easy to talk to the people of God.

"One does not feel, as so often one does at home, that their thoughts are far away from such things. Even among the Hindus there are many who acknowledge there is but one God, but of course these are from among the educated people.

"Then the Mohammedans, of whom there are seventy million in India, are very religious. Many of them, and all are supposed to, pray five times a day. The praying consists of going through certain standing, kneeling and prostrations, the while reciting certain portions of the Koran, many of the verses of adoration and supplication being very beautiful, but with them as with the Hindus there is no suggestion of a Saviour from sin or possibility of complete salvation.

"My work has been about equally divided between Hindus and Mohammedans, and it would be hard for me to say which class I prefer to work among, for I have had many experiences in working with both.

"We go to the villages each day from Ferozepore as a center during the hot season and in the cold season we stay out in the district in tents, remaining about a week in each place, holding night meetings in the place where we are camped.

Persecutions Bitter.

"Any one becoming a Christian from among the higher classes has to endure bitter persecutions. Just at present a dear girl, whose family is Mohammedan, is going through bitter persecution and we are praying that she will win to Christ.

"It is a long story to tell all the details in these conversions and just now I have not time to do so, but if the Lord so will, I am planning to go home for a further rest and tell you more about India. I imagine it would be difficult for me to talk about anything else.

"Here in Ferozepore we have a hospital for women and children, where Doctor Allan, one of our fine women missionaries, works. Daily scores of people are treated, operations performed which save lives untold suffering, and were along with these deeds of healing the Gospel is given in story and song.

"How I wish you could see these hospitals, schools and other helpful agencies which have been made possible because of the interest, prayers, and gifts of you dear home people. This work, especially that done by you who will probably never be privileged to see it in this world, is one of the things that make people out here believe there must be something in Christianity for otherwise how could people ever be led to do such things?

"Christ is the only explanation. The name of Christ is being extolled in India during these days of unrest and turmoil for even the big leaders of the Home Rule party acknowledge that only the principles of Christ can bring peace and progress to India.

"I think I shall enjoy seeing Smithtown very much for I imagine it is one of the few places in which I shall see little change. It spells peace to me and I remember it affectionately. My only regret is that I did not know Christ in those days and missed a big opportunity of trying to lead those children into paths of friendship and service with Him.

"May you be blessed in every way during these days and be spared to be a blessing to many for many years yet."
